Descrip: lean to shed w. field stone foundation on left, windows 6 x 6 all to right.
1 chimney rear eaveline right side.

This was the home of Charles A. Cummings, a milk dealer, from about 1913 until his death in 1957. Mr. Cummings operated his milk dealership from the barn in the rear of his residence. The house and the barn were acquired by Robert Tillinghast in the 1970s and converted to apartments and condominiums, respectively.

S. Lawrence Whipple, 1984

Nathaniel Garmon was living here in 1853 and his son, J. Edgar (Ned), succeeded him in the milk business. Property remained in the Garmon family until it passed to C.F. Buttrick and then the Cummings.
